QUESTIONS TO CONSIDER

- Do you go to bed early or stay up late? Are you an early riser or a late sleeper?
- What school do you go to? What is your major?
- Do you prefer to stay home on weekends or go out?
- Do you prefer to keep the house / apartment clean, or occasionally untidy and don't mind clutter?
- Do you prefer the house / apartment warm or cold?

- Would you mind sharing a bedroom or bathroom to reduce rent?
- Are you bringing any pets?
- How long is your intern assignment?
- Are you driving your own car to the site? If not, how are you getting around?

QUESTIONS TO ASK YOURSELF

- What kind of relationship do I want to have with my roommate (e.g., do you just want to rent a room or do you want a friend to do things with)?
- What outside interests, if any, would I like to share with my roommate (e.g., someone who plays sports, someone who enjoys movies, etc.)?

BANK ACCOUNT

To open a Canadian bank account you will typically need:

- Government-issued ID (passport or driver's license)
- Social Insurance Number (SIN) (if available)
- Proof of address (lease, utility bill, or employer letter)

The bank must be able to confirm your identity through proper identification. (More information Here)

There are two ways that allow you to meet the identification (ID) requirements. You must provide original ID, not photocopies.

(1) Provide two documents from a reliable source:

- one document indicating your name and address
- the other document indicating your name and date of birth
- The two documents of identification must be from the following list:
 - identification issued by the Government of Canada or the government of a province
 - recent notices of tax assessments issued by the Government of Canada or the government of a province or municipality
 - recent statements of benefits from the Government of Canada or the government of a province
 - recent Canadian public utility bills
 - recent bank account or credit card statements
 - foreign passports

(2) Provide any document from a reliable source that indicates your name and date of birth. This way works only if your identity is also confirmed by:

- a customer who is in good standing with the bank, or
- someone who is of good standing in the community where you are opening the account.
- Major banks in Canada include RBC, TD, Scotiabank, BMO, and CIBC. Compare fees and features before choosing.

RECOMMENDED OPTIONS

Note: I strongly Recommend going with an Online Bank if you do not need in-person / clerk services as the ones above charge fees for opening and keeping accounts open. Further some offer no FX fees for Currency conversion (as of 2026)
